WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, to get better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

Fifty years ago this week the people of Norwich were watching with interest the outcome of the armistice between the Germans and French. The armistice was to expire on Friday of that week and was to be renewed if the terms had not been completed with the renunciation of the German Empire. The armistice was to expire on Friday of that week and was to be renewed if the terms had not been completed with the renunciation of the German Empire.

Monday, Feb. 20, 1871—The renunciation of the German Empire was received by the very cordial and hearty endorsement of the republican press of the state. While the opposition to Mr. Starkweather was very determined the result of the balloting in the convention conclusively showed that it had far less strength than had been claimed for it.

The French assembly has at last completed the work of organization and taken in hand the business for which it was called. The chief executive power of the government has been conferred upon Mr. Thiers, and Grevy, a politician of long experience and an ardent supporter of the Republic, presides over the sitting of the assembly. The armistice expires on Friday and the German terms must be accepted before that time or the war will be renewed.

The largest audience that has yet gathered to witness The Volunteer, was in Broad hall last evening, when the piece was given by Fredrick Post, C. A. R. for the fourth time. The piece will be presented for the last time this evening.

From all parts of the state come the complaints that apples are scarce and high priced and persons who laid in large quantities for winter use are mourning over their folly in so doing, as the greater part of the fruit is found to be rotten when the barrels are opened.

A circulating library is to be opened today on Main street, nearly opposite the Central M. E. church. The idea seems to meet with general favor, and the library we do not doubt, may be successfully and profitably established.

Bluebirds were heard and seen on Church street, Monday and Tuesday mornings and a flock of wild geese passed over the city.
 Thursday, Feb. 23, 1871—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the formation of the Fatio Fire Engine company was celebrated Tuesday evening and the house was filled with the present and former members and their friends.
 The Boston coal dealers yesterday advanced the price to $12 a ton. In New York they are croaking over a possible coal famine and some of the dealers here are selling over a ton at a time to families.

NORWICH TOWN
 Sixteen members of Grace Circle of the King's Daughters, including the leader, Mrs. Austin Perkins, met at the Johnson Home Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, in observance of the circle, February 19, 1921. This annual custom affords an afternoon of pleasure for members of the home, as well as those of the circle. At the meeting Thursday a fine programme of music and elocution was enjoyed. Miss Lucille Guile, pianist, and Miss May Guile, violinist, were heard with pleasure in the following numbers: A. Wayside Nocturne, Chopin, and an orchestral selection entitled Take Me, Master George Guile, violinist, the other member of the Guile Trio, was invited to participate, but owing to another engagement was unable to do so. The humorous recitations and readings by Mrs. Charles L. Stark, elocutionist, were most entertaining and delighted all. Mrs. Stark's numbers included: Mrs. Smart Learns to Skate, Tying Her Bonnet Under Her Chin, The Sacret of the Rose and The Bobolink. At the close members of the circle, the Johnson Home family and those who were entertained, in all numbering about thirty-three, sat down to a delicious luncheon of sandwiches, cake, coffee and ice cream. For finding the largest number of peanuts Miss Fannie Edmiston won first prize, and the consolation trophy went to Stanton Brown, Jr. Small candy bears with motions were hidden in various places in the dining room to be searched for. Miss Marion Hunter received first prize in this contest, the consolation award going to Lewis Irish. In the proverbial contest two first prizes were given, the winners being Miss Wheeler and Le Roy Miner. Victrola selections, piano solos by Miss Wheeler and Miss Florence Brown, and songs by different members of the company furnished a pleasing programme. Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Wheeler, assisted by others, served sandwiches, cake, coffee, fruit and candy. The attendance included many from the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school of which Miss Wheeler is a member. She sings in the junior choir of this church. Dr. Charles H. Lamb was a business caller in New London Friday.
